This charming town house is located in the Centre of the very traditional town of Jalon, a town renown for its wine producing in the middle of the Jalon valley. It has conserved many of the original features and has been refurbished up to a high standard with a rustic mix of modernity. The townhouse is accessed through a PVC security door and opens up to a reception area, the first double bedroom is located on the left of the entrance and is beautifully decorated with stone walls and built-in wardrobes. Continuing the inner hallway it opens up to a spacious lounge with wooden beamed barreled ceilings and a beautiful feature fireplace, it also has conserved a traditional illuminated cupboard with glass doors decorated with flower motives. From here the inner hallway leads to a dining area, again beautifully conserving the original stone walls, and from here to a spacious, bright open plan kitchen covered with transparent PVC and making the kitchen enjoy a lot of natural light, and access to a courtyard, ideal for outside dining. There is a guests bathroom with a utility area located next to the kitchen. A beautifully decorated staircase lead to the first floor spacious landing that could serve as an office, dressing area or even a separate bedroom having its own doors, opposite there is the second double bedroom with wood flooring and wooden beamed ceilings, in addition there is some storage area here. The access to the main bedroom is from the landing, through some lovely wooden/glass doors, and opens up to a spacious master bedroom with high ceilings, dressing area and an open plan en-suite bathroom. From the landing there is access to two sunbathing terraces of which one has a Jacuzzi ideal for relaxation. The property has access to secure, private off road parking which is included in the sale. This charming traditional townhouse would be ideal as a family home, a retirement home or lock and leave home, being very characterful, traditional and having conserved many of the original features to be found in a traditional Spanish home.
