The town of Sant Pol de Mar is since time immemorial one of the most exclusive areas of the Maresme, bathed by the Mediterranean Sea, the proximity of the serra de marina gives it a special microclimate, reason that led to the construction of this fantastic architectural jewel. Its privileged location, on top of a hill, provides some of the best views of the area to this solid Mediterranean-style house. The property does not lack detail, a well-kept garden with heated pool welcomes us to such a cozy home. Quality is the first word that comes to mind when entering through the door, selected noble materials, a distribution designed to enjoy the spaces. On the main floor a large hall distributes the rooms, its large open concept kitchen to the dining room, on different levels a cozy living room with fireplace and the library. On the upper floor spacious rooms, full of light bathrooms with all kinds of outdoor terraces details where you can cool off in the warm summer nights, majestically distant the church bathed in the light of the moon.
